2012

Mr. Claude Bain, III, former director of the Virginia Saltwater Fishing Tournament (VSFT) under the Virginia Marine Resources Commission (VMRC) approached Mr. Jon Lucy at the Virginia Institute of Marine Science (VIMS) during the late 1980's about developing a tagging project on red drum.

Bain and Lucy realized not only were critical habitat and seasonal movement data limited for red drum in state waters, a similar situation existed for a number of other marine recreational species like black drum, cobia, speckled trout, and tautog. As a result, they decided to explore developing a multi-species, angler-assisted tagging program. The Game Fish Tagging Program started in 1995 primarily funded from Virginia saltwater fishing license funds and matching funds from VIMS.

Mr. Lewis Gillingham, is the current VSFT Director and manages the VMRC portion of the tagging program. Ann Burnett also of the VSFT, deserves special recognition for her extraordinary work, data management and guidance, all of which keep the program on track. Ann's workload in 2012 was especially large due to the large number of red drum tags and recaptures -her efforts are greatly appreciated. Also from the VMRC, Mr. Todd Sperling, maintains the program database while fine-tuning it for changing data analyses and output needs.

Ms. Susanna Musick, Marine Recreation Specialist in the Marine Advisory Program at VIMS, is the P.I. for the tagging program. Also at VIMS, Ms. Dianne Roberts provides critical assistance to the tagging program assisting with tag orders, assignment and distribution of tags and preparation for workshops. Dianne did a fantastic job in 2012 keeping up with the data entry needs of top taggers-entering over 9,000 records for red drum alone. Ms. Cheryl Teagle coordinates purchasing tags while helping manage the tagging program budget. VIMS Publications provides critical assistance in preparation of posters and annual reports. Ms. Susan Stein and Ms. Silvia Motley in the Publications Center handle printing production of annual reports. The VIMS Game Fish Tagging Program website is maintained by Ms. Lee Larkin . The Game Fish Tagging Program is a team effort by many critical players, most importantly, the anglers who devote significant time and effort to tagging target fish and reporting fish recaptures.

VIRGINIA GAME FISH TAGGING PROGRAM 2012

Introduction

Through 2012, the Virginia Game Fish Tagging Program has maintained a 18-year database of records for tagged and recaptured fish. The program is a cooperative project of the Virginia Saltwater Fishing Tournament (under the Virginia Marine Resources Commission-VMRC) and the Virginia Institute of Marine Science (VIMS) of the College of William and Mary (under the VIMS Marine Advisory Program).

The primary goal of the program is to train and maintain an experienced group of anglers who are willing to volunteer their time and effort to properly tag and release their fish catch. Data on tagged and recaptured fish are summarized in annual reports and are accessible on VIMS website: <http://www.vims.edu/vgftp/>. Time series data are organized and provided whenever requested by anglers, angling groups, researchers, and fishery managers.

Program participants are trained to tag only designated target species in Virginia waters. Participation in the program is capped at two hundred trained taggers. Supporting this number of taggers has been manageable when meeting tag and tagging equipment needs, performing timely data entry, and mailing of tag-recapture reports (and reward items) to anglers reporting catches of tagged fish.

Funding for the program is applied for annually through a competitive proposal process under VMRC's Recreational Fishing Advisory Board. The program funding requires the Board's positive recommendation, which then goes before the VMRC Commissioners for final approval. If funding is approved, Virginia Saltwater Recreational Fishing License Funds (administered by VMRC) primarily cover budget needs, with additional matching funds contributed by VIMS.

A cooperative but separate funding proposal from that of the VSFT office is submitted annually to the VMRC by VIMS. The VIMS portion of the program focuses primarily on coordinating, maintaining and purchasing all tags and tagging equipment (tag guns, tag sticks, tagging needles, and constructing measuring boards). Also included in the VIMS budget are local travel costs and costs for presenting program results at scientific meetings. Several printed materials are also the responsibility of VIMS; these include tagging training handouts, waterproof tagging data sheets, and laminated posters alerting anglers to target species and the telephone number for reporting recaptured fish. The design, printing and publication of annual reports also falls to VIMS, including data analysis and the publication and maintenance of digital reports on the VIMS website.

The Virginia Saltwater Fishing Tournament office similarly submits a separate proposed budget. This budget predominantly covers expenses associated with purchasing reward items for recaptures and mailing such items (with printed Fish Recapture Reports) to people phoning in tagged fish recapture information. Reporters of tagged fish choose among various reward options including custom T-shirts, caps, sun visors, pewter fish pins, or plastic tackle organizers (as long as such items remain in stock).

Recapture awards encourage diverse members of the public (including commercial fishermen, seafood dealers, etc.) to call in reports of tagged fish they encounter. The reward system and recapture reports provide positive feedback to anglers and encourage them to continue to participate in the program and report future recaptures of tagged fish. Direct association of angler taggers with others in the angling community enhances program awareness, reminds anglers (and commercial fishers) of the importance of reporting tagged fish, and provides the angling community with positive fishery conservation role models. The program succeeds because of good teamwork across the angling community.

The tagging program documents annual and year-to-year movement and habitat utilization patterns of selected finfish species in Virginia waters. For certain species, the program documents significant coastal migrations. Many of these species spawn in the lower Bay or nearshore waters of Virginia and use Virginia estuarine and coastal waters as nursery and feeding grounds.

The program's results are of interest to the angling community and to fishery researchers and managers. The number and size distribution of fishes tagged each year compliment other research-based data sets and can help fishery managers gain a more comprehensive picture of sizes of fish released in the state's marine recreational fishery.

Tagging effort for flounder, red and black drum, speckled trout, cobia, spadefish, triggerfish and sheepshead primarily occurs in the Bay and near-shore coastal waters. However, tagging of tautog, black sea bass, spadefish and gray triggerfish occurs over much broader areas of the Bay and inshore-offshore waters. Tagging for structure-oriented species occurs on sites such as fishing piers, artificial reefs, the Chesapeake Bay Bridge Tunnel complex, shipwrecks and other bottom sites occurring from the lower Bay to sites offshore of Virginia.

Special tagging continues at warm water discharge sites through cooperation with Virginia Dominion Power. Past tagging results at the Yorktown Power Station (York River) and the Center for Energy Conservation Power Station (Elizabeth River) have helped to document these areas as important overwintering sites for various species, especially speckled trout and red drum.

TARGET SPECIES

2000-2012

Target species for 2012 appear below. Summer flounder replaced gray trout (weakfish) in 2000, the latest change to date.

Black Drum	Pogonias cromis
Black Sea Bass	Centropristis striata
Cobia	Rachycentron canadum
Summer Flounder	Paralichthys dentatus
Red Drum	Sciaenops ocellatus
Sheepshead	Archosargus probatocephalus
Spadefish	Chaetodipterus faber
Speckled Trout	Cynoscion nebulosus
Tautog	Tautoga onitis
(Gray) Triggerfish	Balistes capriscus

PROGRAM OBJECTIVES

Basic objectives guide program activities. There are five main objectives:

(1) Develop and maintain a quality tagging program using a corps of trained angler taggers; tagging effort of these anglers should be directed to target species, especially where one can take advantage of significant numbers of non-legal fishes which anglers are readily discarding alive while complying with recreational fishing regulations.

(2) Where and when appropriate, direct program tagging effort toward opportunistic occurrences of strong year classes of fishes in Virginia's Bay and nearshore-offshore waters, especially species not traditionally subject to scientific tagging studies in such waters, i.e., red drum, black drum, speckled trout, tautog, sheepshead, spadefish, etc. The program does not target species currently monitored and/or targeted in state waters by research-based tagging studies coordinated by fishery research agencies and institutions, in particular, striped bass.

(3) Maintain a database of tagged and recaptured fish records accessible to the angling community, but also of use to fishery researchers and managers as the database matures. Make summaries and reports of such data available to the angling community through annual reports, websites, presentations to angling clubs, kids fishing clinics, etc. and provide requested data to researchers and fishery managers.

(4) Use the tagging program to enhance education of marine anglers about the importance of reporting tagged fishes to appropriate organizations, agencies, and research institutions to enhance understanding and management of key fishery stocks important to Virginia's marine recreational fisheries.

(5) Use program results to educate the angling community about fishery conservation and management benefits directly connected with proper handling and releasing of non-legal fishes. Tag-recapture data prove that using proper catch and release fishing practices results in better angling catches both short-term and long-term.

The program maintains a group of experienced, trained, angler-taggers who can capitalize on opportunities to tag key species that often exhibit high abundance levels during a given fishing season. These events contribute to rebuilding and sustaining specific fisheries in Virginia's one billion dollar recreational fishery and take on even greater value when this program documents sizes and abundance of recreationally-targeted fish and the habitats they utilize.

Database Improvements

As in previous years, Mr. Todd Sperling's (VMRC) skills are indispensable for managing the program's data files. Since 2009, data are quarantined whenever a recaptured fish species does not match that of the tagged fish (such records are linked by their specific fish tag number). This feature allows the review of such data inconsistencies, which may be the result of various issues, i.e., recaptured fish tag numbers being misread and thereby reported incorrectly, a recapture angler's recall mistake regarding the species of tagged fish they caught, etc. Such reporting irregularities seem to occur most frequently at fishing piers and other heavily fished shoreline locations.

Other cases may include "negative days at large" for recaptured fish, i.e., when a tagged fish's reported recapture date is earlier than the reported recapture date. Also, if a recaptured fish's size is significantly different from what would be expected, this may suggest either the person reporting the recapture badly estimated the fish's length, or the recaptured fish's tag number was reported incorrectly, etc.; such issues can then be investigated and hopefully clarified. These recapture data issues more often occur on reports called into the office and left on voice mail outside of regular office hours.

Details of Program Responsibilities

In addition to handling the majority of data entry, the VA Saltwater Fishing Tournament office distributes tags, needles, etc. These items are regularly mailed to taggers and records are maintained regarding tag-number series assigned to the participants. This information is important for tracking down late tagged fish data reports for reported recaptures. Similarly, "Fish Recapture Reports" generated from the database are mailed to both the tagger and the angler reporting the recapture (along with the available reward item). This timely feedback loop is critical to the success of the tagging program.

Every tag clearly states that a "REWARD" is offered for reporting recaptures of tagged fishes. Appropriate reward items (program caps, sun visors, t-shirts, fish pins, etc.) are mailed to anglers (and commercial fishers and fish dealers reporting tags) by the VSFT office along with fish Recapture Reports. The most popular reward item is the t-shirt, which must be printed in limited numbers each year to stay within budget. Typically, late in the fishing year the t-shirt supply becomes exhausted. Then other reward items are substituted for it (most reporters of recaptured fish understand such issues).

The majority of data for both tagged and recaptured fishes are entered into the database at the VSFT office; the data go directly into the database maintained on a server at the VMRC. The VMRC database manager is proactive in contributing to the improvement of tagged and recaptured fish data and outputs. Current options include setting up various reports that provide "single-click" data summaries for review and tracking program results.

VIMS continues to serve as a remote site for entering tagged and recaptured fishes data for selected program participants. To relieve some of the workload from the VSFT office, VIMS (Dianne Roberts) enters all data for the program's most productive tagger, Mr. Ed Shepherd. From 2007-2012, Mr. Shepherd has tagged 2,000-10,000 fish annually (10,701 in 2012, Table 1) which resulted in 550-1000+ recapture reports each year. Ms. Roberts also provides critical feedback to the program regarding data organization, tagging inventory, workshop materials and dissemination preparation.

At VIMS, tagged fish and recapture data records are also checked for possible inconsistencies and errors; the corrected data then are analyzed and formatted for various presentations and reports. Figures demonstrating fish movement and habitat use patterns are also developed for a variety of educational programs (VIMS Marine Science Day, kids fishing clinics, science teachers and public presentations). Data and graphics also are developed in different formats for various program dissemination needs, i.e. VIMS website pages, annual tagging training workshops, posters, annual reports and presentations (angling clubs, civic groups and scientific meetings). Tag and program equipment orders including the construction of fish measuring boards are handled by VIMS.

VIMS also periodically conducts tag retention field trials to evaluate whether changes might be warranted regarding the type of tag used for a specific species. Depending on the size range of fish, certain tags are more appropriate for small fish specimens (like the 2.5 in T-bar tag) versus large fish (plastic and stainless steel dart tags). For target species larger than 26-28 inches total length, the program recommends using a 6.25 in. stainless steel dart tag with wire core sheath.

Since 2008, select taggers have been testing dogleg dart tags (DD tags) and wide-anchor dart tags (DW tags) for improved retention in speckled trout and red drum. Tag retention studies continued in 2012 for these plastic dart tags to examine patterns of times at large (versus T-bar tags). Recapture rates and times at large are examined to determine if distinctive patterns result from the DD and DW tags.

2012 ACCOMPLISHMENTS

Tagging Effort and Recaptured Fish Results

Through 2012, the program's database included over 222,800 tagged fish records and approximately

23,802 recapture records (Table 6). (*Note: VGFTP data referenced here include summaries of fish tagged and recaptured in terms of the number of fish recaptured (Table 5) and the cumulative number of recaptures, including multiple recaptures of the same fish (Table 6).)

During 2012, more than 104 trained anglers tagged fish. In February, "Top Tagger" awards were presented in Hampton at Bass Pro Shops' Spring Fishing Classic seminar series. The Tagging Program is fortunate to have a consistent group of anglers dedicating volunteer effort into tagging considerable numbers of fish that result in useful recapture data. The 2012 top taggers were responsible for the majority of tagged and recaptured fish data last year. The good-natured competition for the annual awards encourages taggers to work at becoming more consistent in their tagging. By doing so, they have a chance at making the list of annual award winners for any given year.

Trained anglers' tagging accomplishments appear in Table 3 by number of tagged fish. Seventy-six anglers tagged 25 or more fish during 2012, which accounted for about 99 percent of all fishes tagged in the year. This participation level is slightly higher than 2011. These anglers' consistent efforts produce the majority of data on local and regional habitat use and movement patterns of target species.

Top ranking anglers by total recaptures during 2012 appear in Table 4. The majority (98%) of recaptures reported during the year were accounted for by the 55 taggers listed. As expected, anglers tagging the most fish often have the highest number of recaptures per year. Higher numbers of recaptures are associated with a number of variables including fishing (and tagging) frequently, organizing one's tags and data sheets to enhance tagging efficiency, and tagging at locations which hold individual fish for significant periods and which are fished frequently by other anglers.

The range of fishing/tagging areas covered by VGFTP taggers is important to keeping the program data relevant to target species dynamics including year-to-year abundance, habitat use and seasonal migration patterns. However, also important are a smaller number of taggers who routinely push themselves to even higher tagging goals (200-900+ fish per year). The teamwork and cumulative data resulting from taggers at each tagging effort level keep the program responsive to changes in Virginia's recreational fishery.

Addressing Challenges

The VGFTP had an all-time high for tagging effort which was a positive achievement that brought certain challenges with it. The large year class of red drum (>18,000 fish) persisted throughout the peak tagging season as did the number of associated recaptures. This resulted in considerable challenges in terms of staff time in regard to processing recapture data and rewards, especially in cases where incomplete or incorrect data were reported. This required follow-up phone calls for validation from VMRC staff. Additionally, the large increase in tagging meant an increase in tags, putting pressure on the VIMS processing and Hallprint production schedule.

Future funding may need to account for additional VMRC staff support during peak effort and further emphasis on the VGFTP Online Reporting page: https://www.vasaltwaterjournal.com/report\_tagged\_fish.php which makes the data reporting and reward process much more efficient.

Special Database Benefits & Projects

Virginia Tech, VGFTP and VIMS

In June and August, 199 spadefish and 190 cobia that were hatched and raised by the Virginia Tech (VT) Virginia Seafood Agriculture Research and Extension Center in Hampton were tagged and released by VT and Virginia Institute of Marine Science (VIMS) staff. Due to the fact that the hatchery-raised fishes have a known age and length at the time of the release, future recaptures will provide growth data.

Use of the VGFTP as a source of data by recreational fisheries managers has continued to grow. VGFTP data have been used at state and regional level management groups:

Red Drum: VGFTP tagging and recapture data were included in the 2012 VMRC compliance report for the ASMFC.

Tautog: VIMS analyzed VGFTP tautog data for the 2012 Atlantic States Marine Fisheries Commission compliance report. Tag and return data and recapture rates were included for review.

Black drum: VIMS contributed data for the ASMFC PID (Public Information Document) for black drum. VIMS also served on the ASMFC Black Drum Technical Committee Tagging Workgroup and provided tagging, recapture, mortality, habitat use and size frequency data for the assessment.

Flounder: VGFTP engaged in an ongoing project with the VMRC to work with taggers to collect whole catch data for flounder. These total catch data can be used to help project the effect of lowering a size limit.

SPECIES RESULTS

2012 and Overall

Black Drum:

In 2012, 146 black drum were tagged, of which 40% (n=59) were adult fish (16-52 inches TL). As in previous years, 2012 drum recaptures were low (n=13). The recapture rate (for fish recaptured in 2012) was approximately 8.9%, an increase from 2011 (4.7%).

From 1995-2012, more than 3,591 black drum were tagged and 195 recaptures were reported (Tables 5, 6), for an overall recapture rate of 5.4%. Most black drum were tagged at the Elizabeth River Hot Ditch (this site made up 28% of the top ten tagging sites, Fig. 1a). (Note: All top tagging/recapture site figures discussed in species results describe the proportion of tags/recaptures at the top ten sites, not the overall proportion of all tagging/recapture sites). This differs from 1995-2010, where the peak tagging site was Inner Middle Ground Shoal (26% of top ten sites). Most black drum were recaptured at the York River Hot Ditch (34% of top ten recapture sites, Fig. 1b). This is similar to previous years as the York River Hot Ditch was one of two top recapture sites (31% of the top ten along with Onancock Creek, 1995-2010). Tagged black drum ranged from 6-55 inches TL with a peak tagging effort at 14 inches TL (n=14) (Fig. 2). Days at large for black drum ranged from 4 to 230 days for recaptures (Note: recapture data in this report for days at large include recaptures of fish tagged in previous years).

Black Sea Bass:

Just over 1,380 black sea bass were tagged in 2012. To manage program resources better, a minimum tagging size limit of 6.5 inches was implemented in 2010. Even with this size limit in place, black sea bass continued to have a high species recapture rate in 2012 at 13.5% (Table 6).

Black sea bass long-term results (1997-2012) show more than 26,730 fish tagged and 4,896 recapture records (overall recapture rate = 18.3%, Tables 5,6). The top tagging site was Chesapeake Light Tower Reef which made up 20% of the top ten tagging sites (Fig. 3a). Fort Monroe was at the top of the list for tagging for black sea bass from 1997-2011. Thirty-two percent of recaptures took place at Chesapeake Light Tower Reef (Fig. 3b), although Fort Monroe has been the top recapture site in the past (1997-2012). Tagged black sea bass ranged in size from 4.5-22 inches TL, with 10 inch fish at the peak (n=187) (Fig. 4). These results are close to the overall program pattern seen from 1997-2010, when peak effort occurred at 9 inches TL (n=2,106). Days at large for black sea bass ranged from 2 to 417 days (including recaptures from fished tagged in 2011).

Cobia:

In 2012, 431 cobia were tagged, of which 243 were adult fish (24-62 inches TL). The recapture rate for cobia was 2.5%, a decrease from 2011 (5.1%). The total number of cobia tags from 1995-2011 was 1,939, with 202 recapture reports (Table 6). Cobia had an overall recapture rate of 10.4% for the past 18 years. When discounting the release site (Hampton River) of the hatchery-raised cobia, the most popular tagging location in 2012 was the Baltimore Channel Buoy Line (22% of top ten, Fig. 5a). From 1995-2010, the top tagging sites were the Inner Middle Ground Shoal (25% of top ten) and lower York River (24%), though the Baltimore Channel was third. Recaptures were also highest at the Baltimore Channel Buoy Line (Fig. 5b). Tagged cobia ranged in size from 9.25-57 inches TL, with 31 inches (n=27) being the peak length (Fig. 6). This is close to tagging size frequencies from 1995-2010, where peak effort occurred at 31 inches TL (n=27). Cobia recapture data for days at large ranged from 15 to 740 days and included fish that were tagged in 2010 and 2011.

Flounder:

VGFTP flounder show consistent patterns of recruitment within the Chesapeake Bay. From 2007-2012, the majority of flounder were tagged and recaptured in Virginia waters. Minimum tagging size limit restrictions were set in 2010 to better manage program activities (data entry and rewards). This decision helped to verify that the majority of single and multiple recaptures at piers and other structure sites were composed of primarily smaller fish (<12 in.). The Gloucester Point Fishing Pier was the top tagging site for the program (2007-2010) and similar site fidelity patterns for recaptures have been seen at the Hampton Roads Bridge Tunnel complex, Ocean View Fishing Pier, Fort Monroe Fishing Pier and Rudee Inlet waters. In 2012, approximately 1,772 flounder were tagged and 98 were recaptured (Table 5). From 2000-2012, more than 72,030 flounder have been tagged and 7,540 recaptures have been reported (Table 6), with an overall recapture rate of 10.5%. The top tagging and recapture site in 2012 was the Gloucester Point Fishing Pier with 27% of the top ten for tagging, (Fig. 7a) and 26% of the top ten for recaptures (Fig. 7b.). This site was also the top tagging location for summer flounder from 2000-2010 and recaptures (29%). Tagged flounder varied in size from 6.5-21.5 inches TL, with the peak size for tagging at 15 inches TL (n=224) (Fig. 8). Days at large for flounder recaptures ranged from 0 to 1,428 days (including fish tagged as far back as 2008).

Red drum:

From 1998-2012, >500 red drum have been tagged annually (except 2001: n=295). In 2012, 18,351 red drum were tagged and 1,426 were recaptured (Table 5). From 1995-2012, more than 47,014 red drum were tagged and 4,881 recapture records were reported for an overall recapture rate of 10.4% (Table 6). The top tagging site in 2012 was the Gloucester Point Fishing Pier (54% of top ten, Fig. 9a). From 1995-2010 the York River Hot Ditch was the top tagging site (29% of the top ten). The top recapture location in 2012 was also the Gloucester Point Fishing Pier (44% of top ten) (Fig. 9b). However, from 1995-2010, the York River Hot Ditch was the top recapture site (29% of top ten). In 2012, tagged red drum ranged in size from 5.75-52 inches TL, with the peak size for tagging 10.5 inches TL (n=2,127) (Fig. 10). The majority of tagged red drum were juveniles (< 30 in. TL). Peak effort in 2012 took place at a smaller size than 1995-2010 (15 inches TL, n=2,257). Days at large for recaptures of red drum ranged from 0 to 3,057 days (including fish that were tagged as far back as 2004).

Sheepshead:

Compared to 2011, tagged fish numbers were higher in 2012 (31 fish, Table 5). For the second year in a row, no recaptures were reported (Table 6). The top tagging site in 2012 was the Elizabeth River-Western Branch (23% of top ten, Fig. 11). This differs from 2000-2010 results, where the York River Hot Ditch was the top tagging location (44% of top ten).

Tagged sheepshead ranged in size from 9-24.75 inches TL, with peak effort at 10 and 11 inches TL (Fig. 12). This pattern differed from 2000-2011 size frequencies, where peak effort occurred at the 6 inch size class (n=89).

Spadefish:

There were 493 spadefish tagged in 2012 and 37 recaptures (Table 5). There were over 5,845 spadefish tagged over the past 18 years; 599 recaptures were reported during this time, for an overall recapture rate of 10.25% (Table 6). When discounting the release site (Hampton Roads Tunnel) of the hatchery-raised spadefish, the most popular tagging location in 2012 was York Spit (18% of top ten tagging sites, Fig. 13a). This differed from the 1995-2011 results as the Chesapeake Light Tower was the top tagging site (49% of top ten). The top recapture site in 2012 was York Spit Light (33% of top ten tagging sites, Fig. 13b). This follows 1995-2011 data, where York Spit Light was the top recapture site. Tagged spadefish ranged in size from 5-17 inches

TL with peak effort at 8 inches TL (n=86) (Fig. 14). All of the tagged spadefish were within the mature size range (> 4 in. TL), though peak effort in 2012 was at a smaller size than 1995-2011 (13 inches TL, n=281). Recapture data included days at large ranging from 0 to 36 days for spadefish.

Speckled trout:

From 1995-2012, 46,571 speckled trout were tagged and 1,969 recaptures were reported (4.2% overall recapture rate) (Table 6). In 2012, the Elizabeth River Southern Branch was the top tagging site (26% of top ten tagging sites, Fig. 15a); the Elizabeth River Hot Ditch was the top recapture site (38% of top ten recapture sites, Fig. 15b). The Elizabeth River Hot Ditch was the top tagging and recapture site for speckled trout from 1995-2010. Tagged speckled trout ranged in size from 5-31.75 inches TL, with a peak at 17 inches TL (n=517) (Fig. 16). Peak effort from 1995-2010 took place at the 12 inch size class (n=2,551). Days at large ranged from 0 to 821 days (including recaptures of fish tagged as far back as 2009).

Tautog:

Through 2012, tagging effort on tautog in Virginia waters has resulted in 16,584 fish tagged (Table 6). From this effort, there have been 2,567 recaptures reported (Table 6). Tag-recapture data for tautog continue to document that the species does not undergo regular seasonal movements offshore during the fall or inshore during the winter. Tautog tagged in Virginia Bay and offshore waters show no distinctive northward migration over time. From 1995-2012, there was an overall recapture rate of 15.5%. The top tagging sites in 2012 were the Cape Henry Wreck and Off Virginia Beach midshore waters (16% of top ten (each), Fig. 17a). This followed results from 1995-2010, when the Cape Henry Wreck was the top tagging site. In addition, the top recapture location in 2012 was the Cape Henry Wreck (31% of top ten, Fig. 17b), which was also the top recapture site in the past (1995-2010). Tagged tautog ranged in size from 7.5-27 inches TL, with the peak at 14 inches (n=110) (Fig. 18). Peak effort from 1995-2010 also took place at a similar size class (13 inches, n=1,669). Tautog recapture data for days at large ranged from 0 to 2,826 days (including fish tagged as far back as 2004).

(Gray) Triggerfish:

During 2012 there were 89 gray triggerfish tagged, and 17 recaptures (Tables 5, 6). There were over 1,243 triggerfish tagged and 320 recaptured from 2001-2012 (Table 6). Triggerfish had a high overall recapture rate of 25.7%. The top tagging location in 2012 was off Virginia Beach, midshore waters (65% of top ten, Fig. 19). This site was the runner-up tagging location from 2001-2010, coming in second to False Cape (31% of top ten). There were 16 triggerfish recaptures in 2012. The top recapture location was also off Virginia Beach, midshore waters (33% of top ten, Fig. 19b). Tagged triggerfish ranged in size from 9-20 inches TL, with the peak effort at 12 and 12.5 inches (n=12, each) (Fig. 20). Peak effort from 2001-2010 took place at the 13 inch TL size class (n=75). Days at large ranged from 7 to 82 days.

Conclusion

In 2012, the overall fishing effort and resulting tagging effort increased from 2011. The VGFTP had a 63.2% increase in tagging (n=31,642, Table 6) and a 21.1% increase in recaptures (n=2,368, Table 6) from the previous year. Several of the targeted species in the program had an increase in tagging and recapture numbers in 2011. Species with an increase in tagging included cobia (n=437 tags, 11 recaptures) red drum (n=18,371 tags, 1,612 recaptures), sheepshead (n=31 tags), tautog (n=1,037 tags, 100 recaptures), and triggerfish (n=89 tags, 17 recaptures) (Table 6). Of these, red drum had the most impressive increase with 18,371 tags (a 1,392% increase from 2011) and 1,612 recaptures (117% increase from 2011). A large influx of juvenile red drum led to an increase in effort, making red drum the top tagged species for the first time. This is a departure from the previous top species of speckled trout (2010 and 2011) and summer flounder, which ranked as the top tagged species from 2001-2009. Flounder tagging totals were at their lowest levels since 2000. Tagging decreased by 34.2% (n=2,688 in 2011; n=1,773 in 2012). Other species that had lower tagging numbers in 2012 included black drum (n=146 tags, 13 recaptures), black sea bass (n=1,382 tags, 187 recaptures), and speckled trout (n=7,883 tags, 288 recaptures), though speckled trout numbers were still at their second highest levels (Table 6).

Red drum made up 58% of tagging effort in 2012. The large influx of young of the year red drum contributed to a new VGFTP high for species-level tagging with 18,371 tags. These figures should be considered along with other target species numbers, as taggers often devote their effort to the most prevalent species present in an area. While this can sometimes switch effort from some traditionally popular target species (like flounder), it also serves as an important mechanism for documenting seasonal and spatial variability.

These data provided fish movement and site-fidelity patterns of fish captured and released in Chesapeake Bay and Atlantic coastal waters. VGFTP data have also provided an important source of information for marine fisheries management. In the past 18 years, more than 500 taggers have been trained and participated in the program and fishing effort has been documented at over 900 locations in Virginia waters. New records were set for days at large for the program with one tautog being recaptured a little less than 8 years after tagging and one red drum being recaptured more than 8 years after tagging (App. C). These records illustrate two examples of good tag retention and emphasize the uniqueness of the VGFTP as an exceptional source of data regarding recreationally important marine fish.

Figure data in this report are accurate as of April 21, 2013 and table data are accurate as of May 3, 2013. Future analysis of long-term trends in the VGFTP data will continue with the most recent results available online: <http://www.vims.edu/vgftp/>. This report is considered a “living” document with updated versions posted at the previously mentioned web-link.

In conclusion, 2012 was a record-breaking year with 31,625 tags. This extraordinary effort is possible only because of the dedication of anglers who collect and report data and contribute their time and effort toward building a better picture of Virginia’s marine fish.

This report accounts for double tagging and counts the number of fish that were tagged and not the number of tags. Double tag info is valid for 2008 and after. For recaptures, this report counts the number of fish recaptured and does not count multiple recaptures of the same fish. The first column under each species is the number of recaptured fish and the second column is the number of tagged fish.

*This table also includes 190 cobia and 199 spadefish that were tagged as part of a special cooperative study with the Virginia Tech Virginia Seafood Agriculture Research and Extension Center in 2012.

Tagger Ken Neill sets a new record for the Virginia Game Fish Tagging Program

Angler Ken Neill, III, is a record breaker.

It was 8 years ago today that Ken Neill tagged an 11.5 inch tautog when fishing off Cape Henry. Neill didn't think about the fish again for a long time, until January this year, when he received his recapture report. Neill's fish was recaptured on January 5, 2012 by Joe Stagnato, close to the very location where it was tagged. Neill's tautog was at large for 2,826 days, only 94 days short of 8 years. Ken's tautog set a new record for days at large for the Virginia Game Fish Tagging Program (VGFTP). But Neill is no stranger to catching big "togs." In late February he caught one of his own tagged tautog on the same wreck where he tagged it nearly 7 years ago. Originally tagged at 16.75 inches, the fish had grown to two feet when he recaptured it in February.

"Ken's recaptures are exciting because they help tell the story of these fish. Thanks to his tagging effort and the recapture reports we know that these fish haven't moved far (or not at all in the case of the second tautog); we know how much they've grown and we know that we've had success with tag retention in a structure-oriented species. These are great data to document the long-term use and importance of these habitats for these fish. We're very lucky to have dedicated anglers like Ken in our program," says VIMS marine recreation specialist and co-coordinator of the VGFTP, Susanna Musick.

Since 1995, the VGFTP has tagged 10 species of recreationally important finfish with the help of volunteer anglers. A cooperative effort between the Marine Advisory Program at the Virginia Institute of Marine Science (VIMS) and Saltwater Tournament at the Virginia Marine Resources Commission (VMRC), the program's funding is from state saltwater license funds and VIMS.

And Ken Neill, III keeps breaking records. On March 25, 2012 he landed a 24 pound, 3 ounce tautog setting a new state record in Virginia!

2012 Tag Recaptures by Species

1. Multiple recaptures are distinguished for individual fish by the records having IDENTICAL Tag Numbers and Tag Dates.
2. Multiple recaptures are listed in sequential order, with the most recent recapture listed first on the Tag Number column. Multiple recaptures often document the location of the fish over two different or distinct times. However, two (or more) recaptures of the same tagged fish can occur on the same day and even the same location. These types of events document good tagging and release survival rates for the species.
3. Multiple recapture data provide especially valuable information. This information can only be recorded when anglers write down and report the tag number as soon as possible, then release the fish with the tag still in place.
