Introduction

This is the summary report from the first comprehensive national inventory of all recreational boating facilities in the United States of America. It was prepared by the University of Rhode Island Sea Grant Marine Advisory Service with funds from the National Marine Manufacturers Association.

The number of recreational boating facilities count* was 10,669 marinas, boatyards, yacht clubs, and dockominiums. In those facilities the total number of slips counted was 402,674, with 35,380 moorings, 138,297 land storage spaces, 3,273 launching ramps*, and 109,574 auto parking spaces.

This national report provides the boating industry and the nation with far more data on boating facilities in the United States than has ever been available before. State, regional, and national patterns and trends should become apparent from further analysis of these numbers.

Please note that the current inventory is limited by the extent of information contained in the source lists available to URI. Some state lists were complete, up-to-date, and detailed; other states (especially inland) had poor to no lists available.

Not included in this package are individual state reports. In many states there are more "unknown" than "known" data available, thus making local details blurred. Some state files are suspected to have duplication, while others have big holes. Inaccuracies and omissions will be corrected in phase 2, the field verification stage of this project. In general, it is expected that the national totals will probably increase.

I urge caution on quoting individual state numbers from this phase I report. However, the national numbers and relationships probably are reasonably good and can be used.

* This inventory includes only boat launching ramps found in the marinas, yacht clubs, etc., but not public launching ramps found outside of those facilities. An inventory of launching ramps is currently being conducted by the US Department of Agriculture's Forest Service.
